The .za ADR process in 2006/2007

- Started with the preparation of the .za ADR Policy (Regulations).
- Important Considerations:
 - Subjugation (Contract vs Legislation)
 - New or Existing Procedure (unique local requirements & international precedent)
 - Mediation (additional resources)
 - Accessibility (Financial Assistance)
 - Representation (local adjudicator, skills transfer)
 - Naming Sensitivities (offensive registrations)

Regulations

- Offensive Registration:
“means a domain name in which the complainant cannot necessarily establish rights but the registration of which is contrary to law, contra bonos mores or is likely to give offence to any class of persons”

- Abusive Registration:
“means a domain name which either-
(a) was registered or otherwise acquired in a manner which, at the time when the registration or acquisition took place, took unfair advantage of or was unfairly detrimental to the complainant's rights; or
(b) has been used in a manner that takes unfair advantage of, or is unfairly detrimental to the complainant's rights”

- Rights:
“includes intellectual property rights, commercial, cultural, linguistic, religious and personal rights protected under South African law, but is not limited thereto”.

General Objectives:

- Provide an Administrative Framework for the administration of domain name disputes
- Provide useful resources, information and assistance for interested Parties.
- Provide a logical precedent base
- Promote awareness of domain name related matters.
- Promote an image of neutrality.

About the SAIPL

The South African Institute of Intellectual Property Law (SAIPL) was established in 1954 and represents over 140 patent attorneys, patent agents, trade mark practitioners and academics in South Africa who specialise in the field of Intellectual Property Law. The SAIPL is widely regarded as the custodian of South Africa's intellectual property rights, and comprises practicing attorneys, academics, practitioners in businesses and in general, people interested in the protection and enforcement of intellectual property rights.

The members of the SAIPL represent the majority of national and international businesses who have built their businesses on brands, innovation and technology, and who protect their interests through our country's intellectual property laws. Members of the SAIPL also represent the interests of their individual firms and clients at a number of local and international organisations such as WIPO, LES, INTA, etc.

- Many more applications

Future Objectives and Expectations

- Gradual Increase in Dispute filed per month. Will increase as zone increases in size and more foreign investment (FIFA 2010).
- Continually refine the service
- Promote awareness of the SAIPL's ADR services, particularly abroad
- Expand and localize the service into rest of Africa.
